

Hamilton

Good Afternoon,

You may have started hearing the name Workday Student, Hamilton College's upcoming student information system. We are excited to share a brief video that provides an introduction to Workday's Student functionality as well as the current project status.

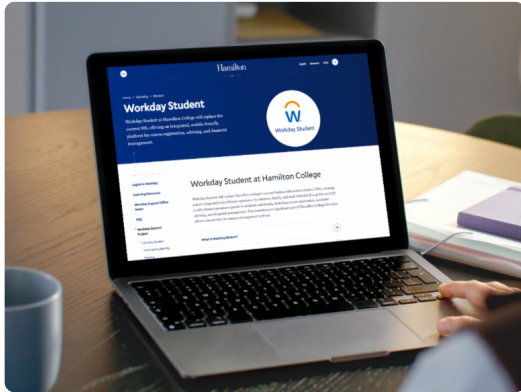

Workday Student will support key parts of the student experience, including registration, advising, and student records. The system is still being built and finalized, with the phased rollout expected to begin in March 2027. We'll continue sharing information gradually and clearly as we move closer to that date.

Countdown to Workday Student Contest

To help you stay connected along the way, we're also launching a monthly engagement activity with curated prizes. This month's activity is quick and easy - just answer three simple questions!
